Soviet Forces Smashing Into City Of Vienna

Unofficial Reports Indicate That Fighting Is In Progress Inside City

GERMANS PUT UP STIFF RESISTANCE

By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, April 6.—Troops of the Soviet Third Ukrainian army drove a wedge into the city of Vienna today against savage German resistance, reports from the front said.

The Russians hammered into the German defenses on Vienna's city limits after an outflanking drive cut the strategic Vienna-Linz-Munich highway, main Nazi escape route to the west.

Front dispatches said the Soviets had reached the industrial suburb of Simmering.

Simmering is the location of several large armaments plants.

Report Fighting In City

A British broadcast, heard in New York by CBS, said that unofficial reports from the front stated that Red army troops had broken into the city of Vienna, and were fighting for possession of the gas and electricity plants in the southeastern part of the city proper. The broadcast added that Vienna was already half surrounded.

As tank-led infantry hurled back fierce enemy onslaughts to cross the Wehbach river and seized the town of Oberlaa, less than two and one-half miles south of the capital, other Red army forces drove west along the Danube in a further threat to Vienna's defenders.

Simultaneously, still other armies of Marshal Joseph Stalin's southern front toppled powerful German defenses in the Carpathians and drove through Yugoslavia toward Zagreb, key to the Trieste gap route to the northern Italian plains.

Liquidated Gdynia Nazis

The Soviet high command also announced final liquidation of Nazi forces north of the captured Baltic port of Gdynia and continued fighting in the encircled Silesian capital of Breslau far behind the Red army front before Berlin.

As Marshal Fedor Tolbukhin's Third Ukrainian army swept across the vineyard covered hillsides along Vienna's southwestern outskirts, the

Tokyo Declares Japan Prepared For Change In Russian Relations

(International News Service)

A spokesman for the Japanese foreign office voiced the hope today that, despite Russia's denunciation of the Soviet-Japanese non-aggression pact, the two countries will be able to maintain "neutrality."

The expression of the foreign office spokesman was contained in a Jap Domei agency dispatch. Radio Tokyo at the same time declared that Nippon was "fully prepared" to meet any abrupt change in Japanese-Soviet relations.

Not Void Immediately

Previously a Jap government spokesman, in the first official comment on the Russian action, said the Soviet notification does not terminate the pact for another year.

The Jap Domei agency quoted the spokesman as saying: "The notification of the Soviet government does not make the pact void immediately."

"It will remain in force for another year. Both parties are bound to maintain neutrality for another year at least."

The pact, denounced by Moscow yesterday, constituted a five-year non-aggression agreement not due to expire until April 25, 1946.

"Japan Prepared"

The Tokyo radio comment was recorded by the PCC.

Baron Suzuki Seeks To Form Jap Cabinet

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(INS)—Japan's fate rested today in the hands of elder statesman Baron Kantaro Suzuki, who, since his retirement from the Japanese Navy in 1929 has served as "advisor to the emperor."

Suzuki, the new premier, takes over the reins from the army clique that has lost much "face" as American forces sweep on to victory in the Pacific.

The former privy counselor is confronted with the choice of carrying on the war until his homeland lies in ruins or attempting to seek some advantage in an early surrender.

The eldest of a feudal Samurai, Suzuki's life has been dedicated to serving his nation in the war and peace.

NEW YORK, April 6.—Admiral Baron Kantaro Suzuki, premier-designate of Japan, ended his first day of effort to form a new cabinet at 6 p. m. today (Japanese time) without submitting a list of ministers.

Louisiana In Grip Of Flood

Mississippi River And Tributaries At Record Flood Level In New Orleans Area

(International News Service)

Spring floods which have inundated hundreds of thousands of acres of land along the Mississippi river and its tributary streams reached a critical stage today in Louisiana.

Crests were approaching or exceeding all-time high levels in many portions of the state.

The crest of the Mississippi at New Orleans remained at 19.1 feet, despite the fact that all 350 bays of the Bonnet Carré spillway have been opened, diverting an estimated 250,000 cubic feet of water per second into Lake Ponchartraine.

Gov. James Davis of Louisiana conferred with state, federal and military authorities on plans to fight the floods and care for the refugees.

Red Cross officials in Alexandria, La., reported that 17 Louisiana parishes (counties) and more than 3,500 families had been affected. Flood conditions were worst in western and central Louisiana.

Report Sarajevo Has Been Taken

NEW YORK, April 6.—(INS)—Sarajevo, the principal city of Bosnia in Central Yugoslavia and scene of the assassination that touched off World War I, has been "stormed and captured" by troops of the Yugoslav Army of National Liberation, the Free Yugoslav Telegraph agency said today.

The Yugoslav dispatch was reported by the FCC.

Archduke Ferdinand of Austria was assassinated in Sarajevo on June 28, 1914, an act that precipitated the World War of 1914-18.

Drive Into Japan To Be Headed By Gen. MacArthur

Named To Command All Land Operations In Entire Pacific Area

ADMIRAL NIMITZ IN SEA COMMAND

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Gen. Douglas MacArthur today was assured the honor of leading American troops in their ultimate triumphal entry into Tokyo.

An announcement of the joint chiefs of staff through the office of war information named MacArthur whose daring and brilliant strategy in the recapture of the Philippines has aroused the admiration of military men everywhere, to command all land operations in the Pacific area.

Together with Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, who by the same order will command all naval operations in the Pacific area, MacArthur will now have an opportunity to extend his strategic talent to the Japanese homeland. The two top flight strategists have worked well as a team, neither subordinate to the other, ever since they began to drive back the Jap tide which threatened to overwhelm Australia.

Hitherto MacArthur has had command only of the Southwest Pacific area. This carried up and into the Philippines, now virtually liberated in his series of island hopping maneuvers which have surprised everyone, the Jap high command most of all.

Now, with the entire Pacific theater land operations in his domain, (Continued on Page Two)

Heavy Frost Is Reported Here

Amount Of Damage To Small Fruits Cannot Be Determined As Yet, It Is Stated

Some damage to the small fruit was done last night, that much is certain, for temperatures were reported from five to ten degrees below the freezing point in various sections of the county. Folks who rushed the season on some plantings of vegetables not immune to frost also saw their handwork destroyed.

County Agent L. C. Dayton stated this morning that it would take some time to find out how serious the damage will be. In some exposed places it may be very serious, and in others not so extensive.

Russian Armed Forces Learn Much From War; Jap Troops "Die Well"

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
(Written Especially For International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 6.—Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov's denunciation, in the name of the Soviet government, of the neutrality treaty between Japan and the U. S. S. R. makes a comparison between the Russian soldier and the fighting man of Nippon of Greatest Interest.

One June 22, 1941, the Nazi Legion of Hitler invaded Russia. It is probable that the Soviet Armies were then the largest in the world, probably not less than 20 million armed men.

Both Russia and Japan operated under a universal military training system. As of 1939, Japan allegedly had six and a half million men in her armies and reserves.

Russia Has Learned

At the beginning of World War II, Russia probably had very few experienced military officers in the posts of high command high staff. That was natural because the majority of professional officers of the

Jap Airmen Try To Attack At Okinawa

By JULIAN HART
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ABOARD AN AMPHIBIOUS COMMAND SHIP OFF OKINAWA, April 6.—There was a marked increase in enemy air attacks throughout the afternoon today as the Japs made futile attempts to hit our shipping off the Okinawa assault beaches.

The enemy effort accomplished little, however. When single planes reached this area, they were sent into the sea in a hellish hail of anti-aircraft fire even before they had a chance to drop their bombs.

From the deck of this ship I saw five Jap planes blasted from the sky while crewmen and messboys cheered the gunners on like a crowd at a homecoming football game.

Darting down from an overcast sky, the Japs were instantly bracketed with fire on all sides and one could see the flash of direct hits before the planes plummeted into the sea.

These continuing air attacks were made on the largest scale since the Okinawa landings and coincide with developments ashore, indicating that the Nips possibly have reached a decision to stand and fight.

First Major Resistance

"We now are up against the first major Japanese line of resistance." In the northern sector, the Marines, held back only by logistical problems, gained between 8,000 and 9,000 yards on Ishikawa isthmus and now hold a line across the island in a northwest-southeast direction.

Although overcast skies and chilly weather continued to prevail, condition of the seas returned to normal permitting a new record flow of supplies across the five miles of beaches. Until stormy weather intervened yesterday, the Tenth Army unloaded scores of thousands of shipping tons daily across the Okinawa reefs.

Fighting In Hamm

Although stiff fighting continued in the industrial city of Hamm, Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges apparently considered the situation in the Ruhr valley sufficiently under control to send spearheads crashing across the Lippe river and into Bruchhausen, 20 miles east of Paderborn.

Fierce Fighting Occurs In Italy

American Fifth And British Eighth Meeting With Stiff Opposition In Italy

ROME, April 6.—(INS)—Fierce fighting on both the U. S. Fifth and British Eighth Army fronts in Italy was reported today by Allied Mediterranean headquarters.

British troops captured four small islands in Comacchio lagoon on the Adriatic sector of the front, depriving the Germans of extremely important observation points. At the same time, the British troops strengthened their positions on a sandy strip of land south of Porto Garibaldi.

Fifth Army troops in a sudden attack captured important positions in the mountains that dominate the Ligurian coastal plain south of Massa. Fierce fighting was underway, the communiqué reported.

The Mediterranean Tactical Air Force operated in support of ground actions.

Stettinius Will Preside At Start Of 'Frisco Parley

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(INS)—The White House announced today that Secretary of State Stettinius has been designated temporary president of the United Nations conference at San Francisco.

Alger Hiss, director of the state department's office of special political affairs, has been appointed secretary-general of the meeting.

Both appointments were made by President Roosevelt in accordance with normal diplomatic practices of the host nation at international meetings.

The appointments were announced by Presidential Secretary Jonathan Daniels, who said that other members of the secretariat to the conference would be named later upon Hiss' recommendation.

Local air raid wards and auxiliary policemen were urged by the state defense council today to extend their services by enlisting in the Pennsylvania State Guard. Simultaneously volunteers were urged to participate in the forthcoming war bond drive by serving on campaign committees.

Twenty-eight years ago this morning New Castle and Lawrence county, along with the rest of the nation and the world, was alive with most unusual excitement. Word was flashed from Washington that United States had declared war on Germany and entered the first world war.

Indications are that considerable damage was caused by the drop in temperature and frost that during the night. Temperature was below 30 in the city, and probably several degrees lower in the surrounding countryside.

Bastogne Men Complete Tour

Final Meetings In War Production Industries Held At United Engineering Co. Plant

After a two-day tour of industrial plants in this county, the Men of Bastogne have left, leaving behind them a memory of courage, of courtesy and a message well delivered. Early today Captain David L. Baird and his group of six veterans left New Castle for Sharon where they appear today.

The Bastogne men finished their tour Thursday afternoon in the plant of the United Engineering and Foundry company. At 12:30 they were guests of Superintendent Clark H. Johnson and some of his staff in the plant cafeteria.

Rally At Three
At 3 o'clock a rally of two turns of the plant was held in the shell building. For the company, Jack Maubue acted as emcee and spoke briefly after which he introduced Captain Baird. In turn Captain Baird introduced his men and each of them spoke briefly.

For the most part the tenor of their remarks was the same. "Stay on the job" was their injunction but to the credit of the men and women of United Engineering this injunction is hardly needed. The men spoke briefly on some of their experiences at Bastogne when they were surrounded by the Germans.

Following the rally they went through the plant, talking to employees, answering questions and in turn asking questions of the employees.

Recognize Product
As they went through the plant the Bastogne men recognized the product of the plant. Giant 240 millimeter howitzers, 155 mm shells, eight-inch shells, this was something the Bastogne men understood. It might have been they were not too familiar with the technique of boring and casting but they knew what those shells would do once they were loaded with TNT.

The Men of Bastogne have gone from New Castle but their visit will be remembered.

Soviet high command announced: "Fighting is in progress in the enemy's belt of fortifications built along the railway which encircles Vienna."

"The Germans, disposing of large tank and infantry forces, are offering stubborn resistance. All counterattacks were beaten off with heavy losses. According to incomplete data, more than 5,000 Germans were wiped out in the day's engagement."

Astride Main Road
The Red army in this sector also was astride the main road leading west toward Gen. Alexander M. Patch's American Seventh Army driving into Bavaria, according to the communiqué.

This new Soviet advance westward—reported by the Germans to be heading for Saint Polten, 30 miles farther on—left only secondary enemy escape routes north of the Danube already threatened by Soviet units in northern Slovakia.

The Second Ukrainian Army under Marshal Dodiou Y. Malinovsky, meanwhile, captured the town of Bruck, north of Neusiedler Lake, and 18 miles east of Vienna. Malinovsky was thus about 10 miles from a junction with Tolbukhin's forces southeast of the capital.

Sgt. Paul Bardash Wins Bronze Star

Local Soldier Honored For Heroism, Now In Valley Forge Hospital For Treatment

(Special To The News)

CHARLESTON, S. C.—For going back after one of the men in his squad who had been wounded although enemy artillery fire was concentrated in that sector, T. Sgt. Paul Bardash, New Castle, Pa., has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal.

Wearing the Purple Heart and an Oak Leaf Cluster for two wounds received in November, 1944, in southern France, and near Reims, France, on January 14, 1945, Sgt. Bardash has been returned to the United States and is now in Valley Forge General hospital, Phoenixville, Pa., after being transferred from Stark General hospital in Charleston.

The sergeant's action in going back after the man who had been hit during a reconnaissance mission resulted in the recovery of the wounded man. Both of Sgt. Bardash's wounds have been treated.

"It was just after we took a strong position on a hill, captured four machine guns and 30 German prisoners, and I was feeling pretty satisfied," the sergeant explains. "When a mortar shell hit a nearby tree and fragments bounced off, I looked up instead of down, and a fractured jaw was the result."

In serving since July 1943, he was overseas for 12 months. His wife, Elvira, and son, Paul, Jr., live at 1219 Randolph street, as does his mother, Mrs. Mary Bardash.

ALLIED FORCES ARE CLOSING IN ON HANNOVER

First Army 175 miles from Berlin—not far behind Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army, which crashed to within 15 miles of the frontier of Czechoslovakia.

Canadian troops were reported to have taken Arnheim in Holland without meeting any opposition. Arnheim was the scene of the "glorious Paratroop Division which attempted to outflank the Siegfried line in a daring air-borne expedition last fall.

Threat To Bremen Grows

Mass Allied crossing of the Weser river in many sectors intensified the growing threats to the great German North Sea ports of Bremen and Hamburg.

The First Army, under command of Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges, jumped off in a surprise new thrust east of Paderborn yesterday and today smashed forward to Bruchhausen. Full movements of the First were shrouded by a security blackout.

Supreme headquarters confirmed that British troops spearheading the drives on the north German ports had crossed the Weser river at several unidentified points.

Troops of the American Ninth Army moving northward in conjunction with the British were reported within only 15 miles of the important Reich communications city of Hannover.

Bombers Aid Drive

Allied fighter-bombers and fighters opened just a jump ahead of British tanks rolling toward Bremen and Hannover. They strafed and shot up Nazi vehicles and set fire to scores of ammunition and gasoline dumps, keeping the Nazi on the run.

Heavy American bomber forces also struck in advance of American Third Army spearheads last officially reported within 130 miles of Berlin. U. S. Eighth Air Force planes battered rail yards at both Leipzig and Halle today.

Ground advances enabled Allied Air Force fighter bombers to move up to within full range of Berlin. Important groups of airdromes at Rheine and Frankfurt, good bases from which to operate against the heart of the Reich, have been seized.

The Third Army forces of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton smashed ahead to within 58 miles of the Czechoslovak border in the drive to cut Germany in two. They struck to within 180 miles of Russian army lines in eastern Germany.

MacArthur substantially will direct every step of the way to Tokyo, including the eventual invasion and occupation of the Japanese home islands.

Presumably, he will also coordinate the strikes of B-29 Superfortresses from the Marianas Islands and India with his own operations by close liaison with Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the Army Air Forces who retains personal control of the 20th Air Force. This command handles all operations of the B-29 raids of the 20th and 21st Bomber Commands.

MacArthur's new appointment set at rest rumors that he would be shelved after the reconquest of the Philippines by being retained simply in his previous post as commander of the southwest Pacific area.

RUSSIAN FORCES LEARN MUCH FROM WAR

Czarist armies had either left the country or been eliminated. However, four years of combat against a highly professional opponent totally cured any such possible Soviet defect. Today, the manner in which the Red high command and staff operate huge armies under the most difficult terrain, weather conditions, and desperate fighting, is amazing to the entire military world.

In the reverse, the Chinese opposition has taught the Japanese high command and staff nothing. A high ranking American officer recently stated that the Japanese armies were not composed of modern soldiers. He said the fighting forces of Nippon are made up of men of medieval training, inclination, and tradition.

Actually, the military education and war experience of the Nipponese add up to the fact that they have been trained to die well. That training has so consumed the war lords of Japan that they have failed to teach their combat units how to fight well.

The National Committee on Mental Hygiene estimates there are more than 400,000 patients in mental hospitals in the United States.

COUNTY GARDEN CLUB SPEAKER LIBRARIAN

Lawrence County Garden Club held its annual meeting at the home of Mrs. C. S. Royce, East Wallace avenue, on Thursday afternoon with Mrs. T. A. Clark as associate hostess. Members assembled for one o'clock luncheon which was served from a beautifully appointed table centered with daffodils and narcissi.

The program featured two speakers, Miss Alice Sterling, librarian of the public library, and Mrs. L. F. Royston, a club member.

With Mrs. Robert Lamoree presiding, roll call was answered with a hybrid perpetual rose, e. g. Frau Karl Druschki, American Beauty, and Pittsburgh.

Committee reports were made and new committees appointed. The Rose Garden project committee is Mrs. W. R. Allen, Mrs. T. A. Clark, Mrs. L. F. Royston, Mrs. Harry Wetlich, and Mrs. A. B. Frankhauser.

Announcement was made that the club's annual plant exchange will be held in the garage of the R. W. Lamoree home, 229 Hazlewood avenue, on Friday, May 4, with Mrs. R. G. Campbell, Mrs. William Berkstresser, Mrs. Otto Pearsall and Mrs. C. E. Paisley in charge.

Miss Sterling reviewed the titles, authors and contents of new books of special interest to garden club members. They range in subject from soil nutrition and pest control through raising of flowers and vegetables, 10,000 questions about gardening, to flower arrangements for church.

Mrs. Royston treated the subject, "Success with New Varieties of Vegetables" as one who has had experience in a victory garden of past seasons. Mrs. Royston said, "The call is out to Americans again, to have victory gardens" and that "food is as potent a weapon for the home front as munitions for the war front."

Special guests were Mrs. T. F. Stryker, Mrs. William S. Shira and son, Master Billy Shira.

Next meeting of the club will be May 3 at the home of Mrs. J. C. Gillfillan, 414 Glenmore boulevard with Mrs. William Berkstresser as associate hostess.

Pattern Of Defeat

Virtually the only prediction that can be safely made about Japanese military reactions is that they are unpredictable. The case of Okinawa is a prime example. Okinawa, a 6-mile-long island in the central Ryukyus, is of the greatest strategic importance. It lies 325 miles south of the Japanese homeland. To the Japanese Okinawa in enemy hands is the same as Bermuda in enemy hands would be to the United States.

The Japanese had ample advance notice that Okinawa was to be a target for Allied invasion operations. For days it was bombed and shelled. Allied troops seized the neighboring Kerama Islands in an obvious move to clear the way for landings on Okinawa. Japanese aerial observations must have disclosed the imminence of the largest Allied amphibious operation of the Pacific war—an armada of 1,400 ships bringing an invading force of 100,000 soldiers and Marines.

Yet despite their advance knowledge of what was coming, the Japanese made no attempt to defend Okinawa beaches. They may have been surprised at the exact point of landing, but that hardly explains why they were able to offer only small-arms and sporadic mortar fire throughout the first day of fighting.

The Okinawa garrison is estimated at from 60,000 to 80,000 men. Perhaps the Japs will yet attempt a desperate defense, but if they can offer no more than an ineffective defense of an island only 325 miles from their homeland, then the pattern of inevitable defeat ought to be clear by now even to them.

Detour To The Indies

Tawitawi, Japanese-held naval base in the Sulu Archipelago, is a part of the Philippines and its occupation by General MacArthur's troops jumping from Zamboanga may be only another item in mopping up those islands.

It is a fact, however, that this particular leap-frogging move takes a different direction than that followed hitherto by our forces in the Pacific, which have been moving to the recovery of the Philippines and the invasion of Japan. This drive is headed straight for the long-captive East Indian empire with its fabulous riches of oil, rubber and other war-vital products.

Sumatra, Java, Borneo and the other islands have been largely cut off from the Jap home territory by the recovery of the Philippines and our air and naval dominance in the South China Sea. But the British and Dutch Indies are still highly important to the enemy and held by him in great force. They have to be retaken.

MacArthur's drive brings Allied ground troops closer to these islands than any time since their loss, only 30 miles away from North Borneo. With American bases so close, the time may have arrived for the long-awaited British and Dutch re-invasion of their island possessions.

A Dying Army

Air Chief Marshal Tedder said last October that the final defeat of Germany would come within 60 days of the loss of the great industrial area of the Ruhr. His prediction seems overly cautious, now that the Ruhr and 100,000 German troops inside it have been surrounded by Eisenhower. The Allied forces have not merely cut the Reich off from its last great center of heavy industry—they have also destroyed the German armies in the West as an effective fighting force.

The waist of Germany is becoming more wasp-like day by day as Allied spearheads drive closer to Berlin.

Already the Germans have suffered staggering losses in manpower, resources and territory in the West. And if the forward momentum of the Allied offensive continues for a few more days, it is difficult to see how the German high command can hope to stage any large-scale, co-ordinated operations.

This does not preclude the possibility of fighting in the Reich for weeks. The chance that the Nazis may continue to fight indefinitely from some inner redoubt is not to be dismissed. But the collapse of the great military machine which almost won the war cannot be far away even if segments of it choose to continue a suicidal, last-ditch resistance.

As It Should Be

Hitler's name leads all the rest of the war criminals on the list being compiled by the United Nations War Crimes Commission. That's very much as it should be. And there seems no reason to worry because Hitler's name is the only one mentioned by the commission. There are plenty of others on the list, even if their names are being withheld.

The commission announces that actually five lists of war criminals have been prepared. There are two lists of Germans. There is one list of Japanese. There is one list of Italians. A fifth list includes an assortment of Albanians, Bulgarians, Hungarians, Italians and Romanians.

It is explained that the names of everybody but Hitler are being kept secret to prevent forewarning suspects who then could escape. Furthermore, publication of the list might be used as a pretext for reprisals against helpless persons still under enemy control, the commission adds. Additional information is steadily being brought in and the hunt for war criminals already is under way.

One significant part of the commission's announcement said the commission "assumed that no immunity attached to heads of states and decided that a plea of superior orders, of itself, did not constitute justification for war crimes."

This leaves the field wide open for a very general roundup of persons who might have been involved in almost any way with atrocities and war crimes. And the no-immunity-for-heads-of-states stipulation certainly points an unerring finger—without naming names—at such characters as Mussolini and Hirohito, which also is very much as it should be.

No list of war criminals would be complete without the presence of their names right up near the top in capital letters. And there will be no worldwide protest if their punishment is inflicted on a gibbet.

The Japanese fleet's interest in the war seems to have dropped to the vanishing point.

If they string Hitler up, the world will be spared the appearance of a sequel to "Mein Kampf".

As fast as American troops capture German super-highways, they make one-way roads of them.

Tokyo says American planes and ships appear to be increasing in numbers, and this is not a miracle.

Berlin announces, "We are in the most severe crisis of the last two thousand years." And with worse to come.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

International Field Competition Is Issue

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Assistant Secretary of State Will Clayton is the Texas cotton broker whose appointment caused such outcries of pain from critics on the left. He was pictured at times as the representative of the "big interests" determined to squeeze out the little fellow.

In two hearings this week, Clayton has championed competition in direct opposition to what are some very powerful "interests." He made a forceful case against monopoly and for the right to compete.

In the first instance, he joined L. Welch Pogue of the Civil Aeronautics Board in opposing a single or community airline to represent America among the world's airlines after the war. By so doing he stepped into a hot behind-the-scenes dispute that involves big business and big government.

Chief source of the drive for a community airline—made up of all U. S. Airlines—interests—that would have a monopoly on operations in the foreign fields is Pan-American Airways. Pan-American has done a spectacular job in pioneering air routes around the world.

It is against this background that the company, with the support of several senators, is pressing for government approval of a single operating line. Almost inevitably, of course, Pan-American would dominate that line, which is one reason for the heated opposition that has come from domestic airline companies eager to break into the foreign field.

In the second instance, Clayton stuck his neck out even further to reverse the previous stand of the state department and declare for competition in the field of international communications. Two or three powerful companies are anxious to merge all American facilities around a little line in a monopoly that would have exclusive rights granted by the government. What is more, the Navy department has given this project its official blessing, on the ground that it would tend to conserve radio frequencies.

Stake Is Big One

The stake here is a big one. American companies, employing the newest radio techniques and unhampered by an investment in cables strung around the world, have moved into first place. During the war the Army and Navy have put together a brand new telecommunications system, parts of which may be available for commercial use when the war is ended.

As Clayton pointed out, the monopoly that is now strongest in the field is generally conceded to be second to us technically and operationally. While he did not name it, he obviously was referring to British Cables and Wireless, Ltd., which is a private monopoly with government backing.

This company is apprehensive over American competition after the war. It would be convenient to be able to agree on areas of operation, on rates and volume of business.

Somehow, the same situation prevails in the air. British Overseas Airways Corporation is a government monopoly. If BOAC could reach an agreement with an American monopoly, then the hazards of competition would be eliminated.

But also, it is obvious, customers around the world would be likely to pay higher prices, and there might be fewer customers. Monopoly, whether at home or abroad, tends to ration supply in order to keep prices up and insure profits. As Clayton said:

"There is nothing in the history of monopoly in any field to suggest that it is the best means to retain and extend a competitive leadership which is based on enterprise and initiative. . . . Our greatest advantage is our superior 'know-how,' and that we have achieved largely through competition."

I went to hear Clayton testify and I was impressed by his quiet, unobtrusive performance. Without pretending to extensive technical knowledge in a field which only a few experts can really master, Clayton laid down a broad policy for regulated competition.

This gets very close, it seems to me, to what this war is about. Carrels, with Germany as a partner, helped prepare the way for this terrible conflict. Carrels, under whatever name they may be called, will again restrain trade, prevent expansion of opportunity and a free exchange of goods and ideas, and, yes, prepare the way for still another war.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

APRIL SIXTH

This was her birthday. Once, the day we kept with love and laughter. Brought gifts to her and watched her eyes brighten and widen with surprise. And heard her say: "This shouldn't be! Too much, too much you've spent for me."

Once more the mother's birthday's here. When we, her children, year by year, put all things else aside, that we together round her chair might be: A day of joys time can't restore; A day the family keeps no more.

The Sixth of April once again. And only memories now remain. The lovely smile, the twinkling eyes.

The look of wonder and surprise. The happiness we used to know. When this day came, so long ago.

Tomorrow—Girl Keeps Man Waiting

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

MARRIAGE DECREASE DUE TO WAR

It takes no study of mathematics to figure out that a lot of girls won't marry. With so many of our young men in the armed forces the public is conscious that there will be an increasing crop of bachelor women during the next decade. Those most conscious of this very human problem are the girls of marriageable age and those younger. Some girls as young as 12 whose mothers limit their freedom with boys are weeping the objection, "But I'll be an old maid."

Just as if girls are not worried enough over the matter, the screen and newspaper columns and magazines have been rubbing it in, with the warning that every girl should get her man, or be left a failure; even with some tips on how to bag her game. Being fit to live with him happily and companionably "until death do they part," and building up a lasting happy family relationship gets almost no emphasis.

Fear of Failure

Most girls have been told, in effect, that it is better to have won and lost than never to have won at all; better to marry and divorce than never to marry. How absurd that failure to marry can be classed in the popular mind as at all comparable to failure to make a go of marriage. Consider the number of hearts that can be broken and lives that can be ruined, including those of children, from divorce. Yet the average girl in her teens supposes the greatest possible failure in life will be failure to find a husband.

Who has done most to give her this silly notion? Her mother and other married women. Even some other unmarried women sheep-like in their ways of thinking toward the unmarried ones. The married women in establishing the superstition that not to marry spells failure. Yet thousands of women who never marry, some of whom are choice and well-adjusted personalities, know better. Nevertheless, in the married women are in the majority, it is easy for them to look over the unmarried ones who are in the minority, and it is amazing with what brutality many married women do lord it over the unmarried ones. If the myth of failure from remaining single is to lose its sting and consequent destruction of so much human happiness, the married women must take the initiative and purge their own selfish souls.

Unmarried Woman's Problem

Who knows but that being an "old maid" so as to be spotted as such is not as much psychological as biological, even far more so in many cases, growing out of the fear of what she supposes others must think and say about her. Consider also those persons easily mistaken for "old maids" or "old bachelors" though married for many years.

What we need for human happiness, spiritual and personality growth in both the married and unmarried women is for the married ones as a rule, to quit their childish, selfish attitude toward the unmarried ones. We also need a philosophy taught youth and adults which recognizes possibilities for personality growth, marriage or no marriage.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

A most enjoyable party was held at the Greenwich Village Neighborhood Center in New York the other day.

In all your days you never saw more frolicking and youthful enjoyment than there was at this party. There were thirty guests in all and everyone of them did something to entertain.

Aristide Merli, 34 years old, played the piano. Salvatore Rotola, 74, lighted the candles of the birthday cake and told stories; Lena Kelly, also in the seventies sang and did an Irish jig and Mary De Michaelis, of about the same age, accompanied her.

Mrs. Minnie Huber, 83, told fortunes and explained that she was not a professional but had taken up fortune-telling as a hobby because "it is better than gossiping."

Greenwich House, as the center is called, is going to have these parties every month. They are birthday parties. The only condition is that the guests must be over sixty.

Most of the thirty who attended receive old-age assistance. All were dressed in their best, threadbare in some cases, but clean. And all agree that the party had been one of the most pleasant occasions of their lives. That party was held in New York—down as a hard-boiled, cold-blooded city, the loneliest city in the world for thousands who have missed success.

In Every City

And yet, I have seen them in Chicago, in San Francisco, in Newark, in White Plains, in Dayton—and even here in this little Connecticut village, though old, forgotten people for whom the busy world doesn't seem to have much use any longer.

There is an old people's home way up on Fifth Avenue, bordering Central Park. Whenever I pass by there on nice days, I see the old folks sitting on the benches, their canes or crutches besides them. There they sit alone, looking into space, frail, weak—lonesome.

Some are just sitting and dreaming. Others are mumbling to themselves. Every once in a while one of them is trying to read a newspaper, but the old eyes don't see so well.

Whenever I pass I feel like getting off the bus and talking to those poor old people. But, just like the rest of us I am usually going somewhere in a hurry and so I never obey that impulse.

And yet—those people were in a hurry once. They were busy once being mothers and fathers and business men and housewives.

Some day you and I are going to be old.

Will we be alone and lonesome? Will we sit on a park bench or lie long nights on a cot in an old people's home?

Why couldn't every community in America try to follow the example of New York's Greenwich House and make the brief span of life left to them a little more pleasant for our old folks?

Why can't we let them know that there are still part of us and that by taking them to our hearts we are only reciprocating for what they did when they were able?

They are so patient, so quiet, so resigned, these old people.

They ask for so little for themselves—can't we give them at least a little of ourself?

ALASKA AND OUR HOME-COMING

America will eventually know the greatest homecoming in history. Eleven million, eight hundred thousand of our young men and women are in the armed forces. The overwhelming majority of these will be homebound bound. Home will be paradise for a few months, maybe a year or two. Then it will be too tame; the little home town, farm, or shop will be too small and the folks seem too old-fashioned; people will be too set in their ways.

These returned youth will be known great hardships that called for their utmost stamina, ingenuity, initiative. But they survived and grew strong in conquering these hardships. They will not want, on returning to their old homes, an armchair life, but a life that will challenge their strength. Having seen so much the whole world around and having lived so hard, they will grow restive and discontented with a life like that which they left when they were called to war. Many of these youth will want to start life over again in a new way and they will want both a new field and a big field in which to start it.

Go West Young Man! was the watchword of the pioneer after the Civil War. The youth of the North and the South found in those magic words both adventure and opportunity. In the great empty lands of our vast West they found homes and built an empire. Just so will adventurous youth returning from the present war heed the call of the wild by this time it will be to the North that they go. Alaska is the new frontier.

The word Alaska means Great Land. Never could there be a more apt word for this vast new America. It is big. That's what our boys want. A big country. In geographic area Alaska is almost equal to the United States east of the Mississippi. To be exact it is 373,736,400 acres big. Its coastline is 27,000 miles long. Its mountains are colossal, and its rivers among the longest in the world. There are 2,000 miles of the Yukon that are navigable in summer. In every part of the world, geographically, Alaska is big. There will be no crowding and jamming in Alaska with only 30,000 permanent settlers. That's only the population of a little Middle Western city. Scatter the population of that little city over the whole of the eastern half of the U. S. That's Alaska's permanent population.

Alaska is a country that is being developed by Howard Snyder from an article by Howard Snyder in the National Review.

VERDICT FOR DEFENDANT

The last case tried in civil court, that of the London Casualty and Accident company against E. F. Scanlon, resulted in a verdict for the defendant. The plaintiff charged that Mr. Scanlon owed some insurance premiums, but the jury apparently accepted Mr. Scanlon's defense that he did not owe anything.

Notices have been sent to the jurors called for next week informing them their services will not be needed as there are no cases to be tried. Three cases comprised the entire list for the term.

PETITIONS SLOW

From the appearance of things thus far, most of the primary election will be a write-in vote. To date there have been but 50 petitions for placing names on the ballots received and the entire number possible runs over 1,000.

There will probably be a rush Saturday and Monday, but for many offices, particularly election board posts, most of the ballots will be blank. Monday is the last day to file.

Lawrence County Medical Society
Hears President Of State
Medical Society

A large crowd attended the Lawrence County Medical society meeting at The Castleton Thursday evening and heard an interesting talk by Dr. William Bates, president of the Pennsylvania Medical society of Philadelphia. Dr. Bates spoke on the subject, "Activities of the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania Between Meetings of the House of Delegates." He also spoke on the post-graduate education plans for courses in various regions of the state.

Dr. Bates was introduced by a special guest, Dr. James Whitehill, of Rochester, Pa., district counselor of the Tenth Counselor district of the Pennsylvania State Medical society. The latter also made brief remarks. Dr. Bates discussed legislative matters of importance, having just attended a meeting with leaders from the Pennsylvania legislature, and announced that the medical service insurance will be available and accepted when controversies are eliminated. On Thursday afternoon, Dr. Bates attended a meeting with G.N.C.A. cancer committee, in conjunction with the American Cancer society, a lay society which is sponsoring a campaign soon to raise funds to combat cancer, at local, state and national levels. The local Medical society will also cooperate during the campaign.

Dr. W. W. Bissell, medical director of the Jameson Memorial hospital, was admitted as a new member last evening.

Dr. Robert Israel, superintendent of the Warren State hospital, will speak at the May 3 meeting of the society.

Demand Halt To Strikes' In Coal Mines At Once

By PHILIPS J. PECK
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The government stood ready today to seize struck coal mines in seven states unless UMW President John L. Lewis can persuade his miners to end promptly the wildcat work stoppage that is crippling war-vital steel production.

The War Labor Board, reporting 200 bituminous mines idle in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky, ordered the union chief "to take every necessary step to bring about the resumption of the production of coal."

The WLB for the first time referred to the mine absenteeism of the past four days as "work stoppages" and "strikes."

No Immediate Reply

There was no immediate reply from Lewis, who was en route back to Washington from the anthracite conference in New York when the

WLB order was issued, but UMW Vice President John O'Leary said "I can't see how we can do any more than we are doing."

First sign of a break in the situation, which has cost the nation nearly a million tons of coal daily, came from the important western Pennsylvania steel producing area where workers in ten mines voted to return to the pits.

Solid Fuels Administrator Harold L. Ickes already has urged government seizure of the struck mines without further delay, asserting that 13 steel blast furnaces were closed and 20 were threatened.

The work stoppages, which persisted despite Lewis' instruction to the miners last Sunday to continue at work for 30 days under the old wage agreement, overshadowed the deadlocked negotiations in Washington for a new 1945 contract.

Socialists of the Sodality of Our Lady of St. Vitus church will receive holy communion in a body at the 8 o'clock mass Sunday morning. On Thursday evening, April 12, the regular meeting will be at 7:30 o'clock, with Prefect Mary Chill in charge.

Allied Forces Would Benefit By Siberia Use

By WILLIAM F. ZIMMERMAN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The possible shipment of large quantities of European war supplies through Siberia to far eastern fronts to speed the war against Japan emerged today as a valuable asset for the allies which might result from Moscow's denunciation of her non-aggression pact with Tokyo.

Such a contribution would speed the transfer of troops and supplies for an all out offensive against the Japanese. It would free thousands of tons of shipping to meet the urgent reconstruction and relief needs of Europe and the restoration of world trade.

The trans-Siberian railroad, which once was a mere single track route across the vast Russian steppes, now is double track for its full length. It is believed to have been highly developed before Russia entered the European war. Undoubtedly large amounts of supplies could be moved.

While land transit is more expensive than water, the speed, as compared with shipment by water, might offset this handicap. The loading and unloading of tanks and trucks would be vastly simplified. Alternative water routes would require shipment either westward from European ports, across the Atlantic, through the Panama canal and then the additional thousands of miles across the vast Pacific to advance bases. Or shipment could be made directly from French ports through the Mediterranean, the Suez, the Red sea, the Indian ocean, south China sea and the Pacific.

Considerable engineering development might be required to get the supplies to available fighting fronts, once the goods were shipped across Siberia but those who built the supply lines to Russia from the Persian gulf, it is believed, could accomplish it.

Even aside from the trans-Siberian railway, however, a valuable contribution would be made if planes were allowed to transit Russian territory in their transfer to the far eastern theater. While long-range bombers can make the transfer without touching Russian territory, shorter range fighters would have to be shipped unless fields were available well within their flight range. This in itself would be a tremendous shipping burden.

Find Large Litter Of Young Foxes

GROVE CITY, APRIL 6.—The largest litter of young foxes found in this locality for many years was discovered in the Courtney woods, on the Slippery Rock road, by John Hosack. It consisted of the mother fox and 12 pups.

Mr. Hosack was walking through the woods with his dog when it started pawing at a hollow log. Mr. Hosack peered into the log and saw a pair of eyes. He sealed the end and went for help. When they opened the log they discovered the litter. The mother appeared a cross between a gray and a red fox.

Many medical nouns are modified by adjectives which are surnames of men who originated or discovered them.

Bell Pays Tribute To Local District

Employee Magazine Devotes Much Space To War Industry In New Castle District

Tribute to the tremendous job being done by war industries of this section is paid in the latest edition of the Telephone News, employee magazine of the Bell Telephone company of Pennsylvania, which devoted 10 pages and its cover to the telephone company's organization in the "New Castle District" which, although it has its headquarters in New Castle, extends 65 miles up the western border of the state from just outside Pittsburgh to Greenville.

Included among the 54 pictures showing all sections of the district are more than a score taken in New Castle, showing the telephone company's department heads and many other employees.

One of the pictures is of the New Castle switchboard, largest Bell manual office in Pennsylvania, which employs 195 people. More than 83,000 local and 1,100 toll calls are handled in an average day. There are 1005 employees of the Bell company in the district.

PRISONERS DO GOOD WORK

CAMP CARSON, Colo.—(INS)—

Prisoner of War camp officials at two branch camps of Camp Carson where 330 German prisoners of war worked for farmers in the area for six months are hailing the accomplishment as "an outstanding example" of what can be done with prisoner of war workers. During the period the prisoners harvested crops worth $712,208 and earned a gross daily wage for the government of $4.48 at one camp. At the other they earned a daily wage of $3.83.

PORTLAND, Ore.—(INS)—A Portland fire engine didn't have to go far to put out this blaze. With its sirens screaming, the engine dashed out of the station, went around the corner and stopped. A police patrol car was only about a hundred feet from the station when it caught on fire.

Before the war Birmingham, England, was the leading hardware manufacturing center of the world.

Dulles Will Act As Adviser For U. S. Delegation

By LEON PEARSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(INS)—The State department disclosed today that John Foster Dulles, former foreign relations adviser to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, has accepted an invitation of Secretary of State Stettinius to serve as adviser to the American delegation at the San Francisco conference.

The State department released a letter from Dulles to Stettinius, in which Dulles indicated his previous desire "to have no official status at San Francisco." But "after reflection" he indicated his acceptance of the official status as adviser to the United States delegation.

Lumber Production Step-Up Is Needed

Lumbermen And Farmers Of State
Advised As To Serious Wood Products Shortage

HARRISBURG, April 6.—(INS)—Pennsylvania lumbermen and farmers were urged today to step up lumber production to help offset an increasing shortage of wood products.

Secretary of Forests and Waters James A. Kell, chairman of Gov. Edward Martin's emergency committee on forest products production, warned that new limitation on paper products would be necessary unless the timber yield improved by mid-summer. He emphasized that most pulpwood was earmarked for war uses.

The bulk of ray pulpwood must go into products necessary to the actual prosecution of the war—for explosives and packaging military supplies," he asserted. "Mills manufacturing commercial printing paper, wrapping paper, bags, towels and napkins simply will not have the woodpulp to produce them except in limited quantities."

The Central American umbrella bird is named for a crest of black feathers which can be lowered to cover its face.

Think of the added beauty a more youthful face and throat can give! Then harken to this: Science... in the guise of ENDOCREME... can, for most women, contribute to this desirable result in a way formerly thought impossible. Many thousands are now finding that ENDOCREME actually helps to improve the skin itself, not just its transient, superficial "look." This is because ENDOCREME, alone, possesses ACTIVOL. The ACTIVOL in ENDOCREME... a laboratory counterpart of a natural, skin-vitalizing substance... is absorbed beneath the skin's surface to build cells, firm tissues. It thus helps the skin to become fresher, smoother, more alluringly "alive." What bigger value can any woman between 22 and 70 ask for her cosmetic dollars. Postwar Interest Rates Are Discussed By Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
Copyright—1945—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.

BABSON PARK, Mass., April 6.—Interest rates are like the weather. As few people can work up much hysteria over loans, gradients and cycles, so only a few watch the statistics determining money rates. To those outside the ranks of professionals, the forecasting technique is a riddle. All you want from the weatherman is notice when to get ready for a heat wave or a blizzard or a hurricane! Most readers want to know only whether securities are to go up or down. Yet interest rates, by definition, reflect the price of credit. Dull and theoretical as they sound, credit conditions may shape your whole tomorrow.

War Bond Investments
I expect that the broad trend of interest rates, in the postwar period, will be upward. Whether this may mean to some unfortunate railroad bondholders, the owners of ten-year war bonds need not lose a moment's sleep. The buyers of savings bonds, "series E, F and G" enjoy unique protection. Their capital is safeguarded by the resources of an all-powerful nation, and a special covenant. Such war bonds do not suffer the vagaries of the market place. The government in effect has pledged that the prices of these bonds will remain practically pegged regardless of roving interest rates.

True, some landmine of inflation might shatter the dollar itself. To raise that specter, however, is like worrying about which room is safest if your house should take a direct hit from a blockbuster. Suffice to say that whatever befalls—except a social or economic revolution—your ten-year war bonds are as secure as any obligation on earth and far safer than most. In purchasing these bonds you, moreover contribute to national welfare. Let us hope that the number of holders of these bonds will approximate 138 million, or the population of the U. S. With this general statement regarding these saving bonds (and I am not commenting one way or the other as to the long-term "governments"), let me return to my discussion of future interest rates.

Higher Rates Ahead
Calvin Coolidge had a Vermont-er's gift for plain talk. Everybody who (in Coolidge language) "hires money" is concerned with the price-tag on credit. Firming rates will add their quota to the cost of doing business. Thence the impact will spread to cost of living, to funds available for wages, to investment lists. Holders of non-convertible issues may feel the change directly. All groups, however, including housewives and school pupils, will share to some degree in the economic currents stirred by changing interest rates.

Some analysts contend that the government, via the Federal Reserve System, can hold down postwar interest rates. In theory, potential credit can be expanded through lowering member bank reserve requirements and the legal reserve minimum. These very tactics, however, might incite a flight of funds out of high-grade bonds into other assets. Moreover, after the war, governmental appeals to patriotism will lose some of their wartime pulling power. Sooner or later the job of supplying long-term funds for capital purposes will, I think, be removed from the Federal Reserve System.

Pendulums Still Swing
The government can for awhile balance, upon its chin, a juggler's pole of credit—as long as no gusts arise to upset the delicate poise. Such disturbing forces now can be discerned on the horizon. Reconversion, for example may develop into great business activity, with corresponding calls for credit. Simultaneously, as statisticians foresee it, our country's stocks of monetary gold will decline. So whether you probe credit-demand or credit-supply, you are led to the forecast of higher interest rates.

The public always expects current conditions to persist. If the day's communique is adverse, they look for a long war and vice versa. Every rise or fall of commodity and security prices generates faith in continued advance or decline. Thus, many who may dissent from my forecast of a strengthening rate of interest will discover, I believe, that their judgment is being unduly swayed by present conditions. Remember that the habit of pendulums is to swing. The one stable thing is—change!

Butcher Of Poland Reported Captured

LONDON, April 6.—(INS)—Arthur Greiser, "butcher of Poland" and former Nazi gauleiter of Danzig, has been captured by the Russians, a Moscow broadcast said today. The clandestine radio Atlantic

Among other things, Greiser was accused of shooting 100 Polish civilians in the basement of a church, in reprisal for the killing of two members of the gestapo.

Traces Of Hitler And His Cohorts Still In Evidence

(Editor's Note: In the following dispatch, International News Service Ace War Correspondent Pierre Huss, former Berlin and central European manager, describes the evident traces of Hitler and his cohorts still remaining in the Reichsfuehrer's former headquarters near Bad Nauheim which has been overrun by American forces.)

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I.N.S. Staff Correspondent)

"FUEHRER HEADQUARTERS," Near Bad Nauheim, Germany, April 5.—This former headquarters of the Nazi Reichsfuehrer literally reeks of Hitler and traces of his ominous presence with his entire gang still are startlingly evident today.

A high wire enclosure a stone's throw from Hitler's bunker No. 1 disclosed kennels in which a score of specially trained police dogs were housed. Half a dozen always were on guard along with 300 SS men.

Patrols guarding the place faced each other at every 30 yards. At night, a dim blue light, invisible from the air, illuminated the entire 15 kilometer fenced-in area of the headquarters, known as the "Aldershots."

Effectively Camouflaged
So effectively was it camouflaged that it must have looked like a harmless forest's hamlet to passing aircraft.

In this secret haven, Hitler bossed the war throughout the winter. Field Marshal Karl Gerd von Rundstedt, although fully aware of the facility of his December offensive, carried out orders from here unquestionably while Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler, Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels and Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering and others fixed their hopes on an 11th hour miracle.

Anyone faintly hinting at defeatism was killed.
Hitler stayed here partly because he felt it was safe. There had been several hitherto unknown assassination attempts against him, one of which left him wounded in the left side, partly paralyzing his arm. But the July 20 assassination attempt, according to what is learned now, was a ruse which trapped Junker generals who killed a Hitler "double."

Hitler Is Changed
As described by those who saw Hitler daily until his departure from Bad Nauheim Jan. 6, Hitler now stoops. His old fire is gone, physically, but fanatically he is the same. His hair was said to be nearly white. He was described as extremely nervous, flying into his familiar rages. His personal physicians, Dr. Sauer-bruch and Dr. Brandt, still attempt to guard his health.

The initial December successes! The Nazis in their strike back into Belgium and Luxembourg quickly lifted the spirits of Hitler. Himmler, Goering, Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel were enthusiastically "heiling" each other. The Macabre climax came New Year's eve when Hitler provided a lavish celebration feast.

Forty servants were placed under strictest silence concerning the food served while Germany was tottering. Some 50 Nazis and generals toasted that was proclaimed a Reich victory.

In the party which last until 4 a. m. they consumed 100 magnums of champagne, 500 eggs in specially prepared dishes, endless roast goose and cakes and liquors.

Among the guests, it was said, were Emma Goering and Magda Goebbels, indicating that the "old gang" lineup had not changed much and would continue until allied armies finally rub out Berchtesgaden.

Louis X and Frederick the Great died of pneumonia, as did Dr. Samuel Johnson, John Bunyan, Eleanor Duse.

Stimson Warns German People Of Fate In Store

Surrender Or Have Country Destroyed City-By-City Is Warning For Germans

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(INS)—The German people were warned by Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson that they now have only the choice between immediate unconditional surrender or the same form of capitulation "a little later, after much more of the Reich has been destroyed city-by-city."

At the same time, in his weekly news conference, Stimson decided Japanese generalship for its inability to move its troops to meet such surprises as they were handed at Okinawa.

"It should be obvious to the German people," he declared, "that their only choice is between unconditional surrender now or unconditional surrender a little later after much more of the Reich has been destroyed city-by-city."

There is a lesson with respect to this in Aschaffenburg where a Nazi fanatic used the visible threat of two hangings to compel German soldiers and civilians to fight for a week. Yet after this week of fighting during which the city was reduced to rubble and many Germans lost their lives, the inevitable took place. The Nazi fanatic ran up the white flag and surrendered to our veteran 45th Division.

Stimson warmly praised the operations of the First Army which established the Remagen bridgehead and is now driving toward Berlin. He recalled that it was the First which made the St. Lo breakthrough in Normandy and the two sweeping encirclements at Falaise and on the Seine.

War Contracts Over Twenty-Two Billion In This District

CLEVELAND, O., April 6.—(INS)—Prime contract and facility awards in the Cleveland region since the beginning of the war have amounted to $22,880,564,000, according to an announcement today by the War Production Board.

The report listed the following totals for supply and facility awards by states:

Ohio, $16,841,199,000; Pennsylvania, $13,718,467,000; only the western half of the state was included in the Cleveland regional report; Kentucky, $1,180,157,000; and West Virginia, $976,503,000. Contract awards cover aircraft, ships, ordnance and other requirements and military and industrial facility projects, the report added.

Pfc. Victor Ecklund Home On Furlough

Former Battery F Member Home On Extended Leave After Four Years Of Service

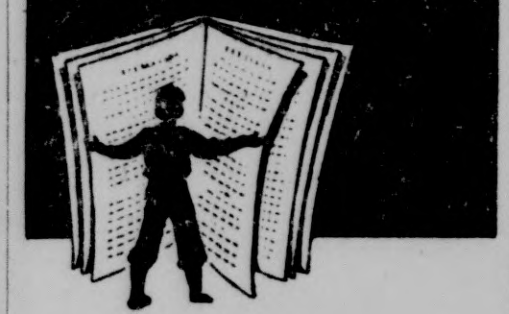

After four years of service in Uncle Sam's Army, Pfc. Victor S. Ecklund is getting acquainted with his mother's good home cooking, having arrived home this week on a 45-day furlough from the battlefield of Europe. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Ecklund of 915 Maryland avenue.

During this time he has been in seven different countries and has been in action in the European theater since D-Day plus six. Pfc. Ecklund has been overseas for two and a half years.

Pfc. Ecklund has been serving with an artillery unit of General Patton's Third Army and has helped hurl plenty of destruction at the Nazis. He will report back to a camp here to return to his old unit on May 13, but in the meantime plans to do plenty of eating and sleeping.

BARGAIN DAY
KLAMATH FALLS, Ore.—A billfold bought for 25 cents at a Klamath Falls rummage sale was well worth the price. Mrs. Ralph Buell put her billfold on the counter for a moment. When she turned around again, a saleswoman had just sold it. The billfold contained $40 in currency.

MacArthur And Nimitz To Head Japan Attacks

(By International News Service)

Nomination of Gen. Douglas MacArthur to lead all land forces in the Pacific theater, while Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz heads all naval units, was a clear indication that the war against Japan is entering a new phase.

Only yesterday, MacArthur proclaimed the end of one phase of that war, when he said that the forging of a 3,000-mile chain of air bases from New Guinea to the northern Philippines and from there down to the end of the Sulu archipelago completed isolation of Japan's stolen empire.

On Okinawa, a major tank battle appeared imminent in the southern section of that island 325 miles from Japan. The U. S. tenth army, which in the first four days of its invasion suffered the surprisingly low total of 973 casualties, battered out fresh gains of up to five miles on the northern front.

Nimitz, in his regular communique, said that the army troops pushing down both coasts of Okinawa were meeting "increasing" resistance.

Union Students Give Play Tonight

Lessons in the new "uplift walk" and the appearance of two girls in bathing suits of 1910 vintage, complete with sleeves, skirts, and stockings, are only two of the hilarious scenes in the junior-senior play "Guess Again," which is being presented in the Union High school auditorium this evening.

Based on the confusion which arises when two persons claiming to be the English nobleman, Lord Wiggleson, arrive at an inn, the play moves along rapidly in the capable hands of a cast headed by Maxine Hollerman, as Janet, and Richard Wallace as Bill Douglas.

Other members are: Frank Kuhn as Bill Grimes; Charles Cook as Waldo Pitts; Rose Navarra as Mrs. Skinner; Dolores Donley as Dora Mae; Donna Park as Olive Ordway; Patricia Goske as Marcella Jenks; Louis Krueger as Lord Wiggleson; Kenneth Hanna as Bertie Blodgett; Cramer Gorley as S. H. Pratt; Frances Ambrosia as Renee Lamour; Wanda Hoover as Luella Perkins; and Philip Clark as Sol Messer.

Continue Hunt For Six In Prison Break

MEDIA, Pa., April 6.—(INS)—State and local police swarmed over the western end of Delaware county today on the trail of six long-term convicts believed to have fled to the area after the escape from the eastern state penitentiary at Philadelphia.

The search led to the southern corner of the state following recovery near Media of an automobile which four of the desperadoes commandeered a few seconds after they crawled to freedom through a tunnel under the prison wall.

Belief that the fugitives were in the sparsely-populated district also was backed up by a report from William Blackburn of nearby Lima. Blackburn told police thieves raided his home, taking only large quantities of food.

INSTRUCTORS' CLUB HAS FRACTURES TALK

Starting new classes in first aid was the subject of the business session. Albert R. Batten presided.

Later refreshments were served by Sister Mary Philip, assisted by Mrs. Theodore Castele and Mrs. Samuel Rashid.

rubbing, conserves linens!

1 "Yes, with Clorox, I find less rubbing is needed. That means my precious, hard-to-replace cottons and linens can last longer. And besides bleaching, removing stains, scorch and mildew, Clorox brightens my color-fast linens. But even more important, laundering with Clorox is a sanitary precaution ... an added safeguard to family health."

WHY TAKE CHANCES!

"When it's CLOROX-CLEAN
it's hygienically

3 "I'm mighty careful to make bathroom 'danger zones' sanitary, too; places that may look clean but where germs can exist; a possible menace to health. And today health protection is especially important, because so many doctors and nurses are in the armed services. I feel safer when I cleanse my washbasin, bathtub, toilet, floor, woodwork ... for I use Clorox!"

2 "And speaking of safeguarding my family's health, Clorox is also my standby in the kitchen. I use it in my every-day cleansing for making germ 'danger zones' sanitary. Clorox not only disinfects, but deodorizes, and removes stains. I use it on my drainboard, sink, refrigerator, food containers, dishes, glassware ... also to make my dishcloths fresh and sanitary."

4 Clorox is a dependable household standby ... a product of modern science providing the type of sanitation recommended by health officials throughout the country. It makes kitchen, bathroom and laundry germ "danger zones" hygienically clean. What's more, Clorox deodorizes and removes stains. And Clorox is extra-gentle in bleaching, efficient in disinfecting because it is ultra-refined ... free from caustic, an exclusive, patented quality-feature. It is concentrated for economy, a little goes a long way. Use Clorox regularly in your home. Simply follow directions on the label. There is only one Clorox ... always ask for it by name.

Charges Illicit Meat Operations Are Stupendous

By FRANK B. ALLEN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Sen. Burton K. Wheeler (D-Mont.), charged Thursday that a black market in genuine OPA ration points exists in New York City, where he declared illicit meat operations are "stupendous".

He said he was informed that the price is six dollars a thousand for the points that are "getting out of OPA in some way."

Wheeler added that "people who are living up to the OPA rules are not getting the meat" while black market patrons, he said, are getting far more than their share.

He asserted the red ration points being bootlegged in New York supposedly are genuine and reach the black market through a leak from OPA sources.

Wheeler also quoted a letter from the Frye Cattle Company, Butte, Mont., saying that "not enough beef is available in the district to supply military needs." He quoted the letter as declaring that beef is going into black market channels and into slaughtering refrigerator locker trade.

Beef is going into the places where prices are higher—the black market," he said. "We're going to have a black market as long as there is scarcity of meat and people have plenty of money."

Challenges Government Statements
Sen. Harlan J. Bushfield (R-S.D.) told the senate "black market" committee he challenged government agency statements that the public is getting more meat than in pre-war days.

"OPA comes up here and tries to show by charts that we're getting more meat than before the war, but any housewife knows we're not," he declared. "The agencies have a lot of smart boys who can do anything with figures."

Carl H. Wilken, Sioux City, Iowa, agricultural economist, said the nation's expenditure for food was 21.7 billion dollars in 1929, dropped to 15.1 billion in 1933 and in war years went to 32.4 billion in 1942, 36 billion in 1943 and 40 billion last year.

Wilken, representing state agricultural societies and commission-ers of northern central states, urged higher prices for livestock as the incentive to higher production.

Here's a SAMPLE Puzzle—Just to Give You the Idea—SAMPLE PUZZLE ONLY

EXPLANATION

Note this Sample Puzzle. Notice the objects illustrated and the plus and minus signs, which mean that you add or subtract.

You see the letters O-A followed by a plus sign after which comes an object that is obviously an ARM. Therefore, to O-A you add the letters A-R-M, which gives you O-A-A-R-M. Then you subtract R as directed, leaving O-A-A-M. Next comes a plus sign followed by a PEN, so you add P-E-N, giving you O-A-A-M-P-E-N. To which you now add RING, plus the letter I, as directed. Thus you have O-A-A-M-P-E-N-R-I-N-G-I, from which you then subtract PIANO. So you cross out the letters P-I-A-N-O, leaving A-M-E-R-I-N-G-I, to which you add the next object, CAN, or the letters C-A-N, giving you A-M-E-R-I-N-G-I-C-A-N, from which you finally subtract the letters G-N-N, giving you AMERICA as the solution.

oa + - r + + - + i - - gnn = AMERICA

Call For Success Of 7th War Loan

Western Pennsylvania Asked To Shoulder Largest Purchases In History

PITTSBURGH, April 6.—(INS)—Western Pennsylvania today was called upon for its largest war bond purchases in history to assure the success of the $14,000,000,000 seventh war loan campaign.

In plain cloth figures the 19-county Fort Pitt area of the war finance committee is being asked by the United States treasury department to buy more than 60 per cent more "E" bonds—the "people's bond"—than ever before.

Allegheny county's "E" bond quota for the seventh war loan drive which closes July 7, is $51,950,000, compared to $22,290,000 in the sixth, an increase of 60.8 per cent. The allotment for the other 18 counties showed an increase of 60.5 per cent over the last drive.

The seventh war loan drive, a WPC spokesman stated, will start Monday under the payroll savings plan, and May 14 for public participation.

Poor Princess Indignant About War Privations

Fur-Coated Lady Limited To 14 Rooms While Thousands Are Homeless Outside

By FRANK CONNIF (U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE U. S. SECOND DIVISION ENROUTE TO BERLIN, April 6—A great-granddaughter of Queen Victoria of England was roughing it in a mere 14-room suite of her 300-room chateau near Dinslaken Monday despite her regal and sulphurous protests.

While weary American troops luxuriated on the grounds of her 16,000-acre estate during a brief respite from battle, Princess Valerie Maria Arenberg, titian-haired daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Schleswig-Holstein, stamped her well-shod feet in impetuous disapproval.

"I'm astonished," she said when ordered to move from the main wing of her Westphalian showplace, built more than 235 years ago. "I thought England would protect me. Now you ask me to live in a place without even a kitchen to prepare food. I am astonished."

Lieut. Col. George Elms of 37 College Road, Waynesburg, Pa., listened patiently while the princess enumerated the "hardships" she must face if forced to endure privation for a few days in the 14-room annex.

So did her husband, Prince Ingelbert Charles Arenberg, and another titled relative, the Duke of Croix, whose first two wives were Americans and whose daughter, Mrs. Richard Metz, now lives in New York City.

"I can't stand this," the princess said. "I have to live in a cellar all winter while you Americans bombed Germany. It has been simply terrible."

Suffers In Smart Clothes

If Elms noticed her expensive fur coat, smartly-tailored green-gray suit, or red-lacquered finger-nails, he said nothing. He told the petulant princess Lt. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's orders affected blue-bloods as impartially as the people she several times referred to as "peasants."

"How can these things happen?" she wailed. "You Americans are doing the very things you promised not to do."

Elms never mentioned the fact the roads outside her estate were thronged that very moment with emaciated French, Polish and Russian refugees uncertain where they would sleep that night. Nor did he cite the tired, unshaven G. I.'s breaking out their K-rations and appreciative of the few moments rest they enjoyed on the manicured fairways of her estate.

"I am very sorry," he said. "But you are no different from anybody else. You should be thankful none of your house has been damaged."

About the only member of the royal household who seemed aware there was a war on was the Duke of Croix. He said he married Nancy Lisham of Philadelphia in 1913. Divorced 16 years later, he then married Helen Lewis of Albany, N. Y. His third wife, a German, died six weeks ago.

Lighting Research is "MOVING the SUN"

EYESTRAIN PICKS ITS VICTIMS YOUNG

Most of Us begin life with normal vision... but unless this blessing is carefully safeguarded, our eyesight may be permanently damaged.

One of Every Five children in grade school suffers from impaired vision. Scientific authorities say poor lighting causes unnecessary eyestrain.

Two Out of Five college graduates have defective sight... a result which good lighting might have helped to prevent by reducing eyestrain and fatigue.

How would you like your children to grow up in an atmosphere like this? To fuss over their stamp collections and do their homework in the healthful, out-of-door light that young eyes need?

You won't have to move them out under a tree for this. Lighting Research is planning now to "move the sun indoors"—to bring you light that doesn't merely compete with darkness, but actually compares with real daylight! Light that is properly controlled and available any time, any place! For example:

- ★ Softer, more abundant light for easier seeing.
- ★ Ultraviolet for essential Vitamin D.
- ★ Short-wave ultraviolet that kills germs.
- ★ Soothing, penetrating heat.

These aren't just a lot of postwar prophecies. They are here today, waiting only for the war to be over. So why not begin planning now to bring sunshine into your home of tomorrow!

CLEANUPS TO KILL CORN BORERS URGED

Disposal of all cornstalks and similar refuse, in which borers spend the winter, before May 1 is urged, as an effective means for reducing the infestation of the European corn-borer which last year caused an estimated $2,500,000 loss on Pennsylvania farms—some of it in Lawrence County.

The deadline for cleaning up cornfields and nearby areas is set for May 1 because after that the borers will begin emerging as moths to start a new breed—and a new cycle of destruction.

Corn stubble, pithy-stemmed weeds and like material in which the worms hibernate should be plowed under to a depth of 4 to 6 inches, or collected and burned. Because the moths can fly from field to field, the cleanups should be on a community-wide basis to be most effective.

APIARISTS URGED TO CHECK ON BEES

Lawrence County beekeepers are urged to check on their colonies to note their condition and to provide supplemental food to those in need. Where dead colonies are found they should be examined for foulbrood. Bees should be prevented from robbing dead colonies because of the danger—it may contain disease spores which could be spread to other colonies.

Weak colonies can be fed sugar syrup or given frames of honey from other colonies, provided the beekeeper has not been troubled with foulbrood for two years or more.

Protein needs of the bees, when pollen is not available, also can be supplied by a mixture of 20 per cent powdered skim milk and 80 per cent low-fat soybean flour.

This should be well mixed and exposed in sheltered place in the apiary. The bees will collect it and carry it into the hive to feed their brood, provided it is kept dry and exposed so that the bees can have access to it.

URGE RURAL WOMEN TO KEEP ON SAVING FAT

Farm women and homemakers in small towns in Lawrence County are called upon to contribute a large share of the 250 million pounds of used household fats needed to make up a deficit in the 1945 supplies of fats and oils.

Stepped-up military demands and industrial and essential civilian requirements in the face of a lower supply brought about the need for higher quota than the used kitchen fats turned in by American homemakers last year. The quota last year was 170 million pounds.

Rural homemakers have a large supply of the estimated 500 million pounds of used kitchen fats yearly.

Opportunities for salvaging used fats on the farm are now greater than those of city homemakers because of home production of meats on the farm and extensive use of poultry and other fat sources. At butchering time rendering of waste fat is also important. This type of fat, the so-called "killing fat," is needed as much as used household fat. Although red points are not given for "killing fat," it can be sold at the going market price.

Used fats help in the making of munitions, civilian and military soaps, medicines, and many other vital war and industrial uses. They also are important in manufacturing many other things for direct farm use, such as insecticides, fungicides, synthetic rubber for tires, protective coatings for farm implements, treatment of canvas textiles, etc.

SOYBEANS COME TO AID OF REDUCED MEAT SUPPLY

As families look ahead they realize there will be less meat per person this year than last year. In planning meals, homemakers will need to use more of the other protein-rich foods to supplement the smaller supply of meat.

Among these protein-rich foods are eggs, milk, fish, poultry, and dried beans and peas. Edible soybeans rate unusually high in food value, are easy to raise, and when properly cooked and served make an attractive and nutritious dish for the family meal.

Soybeans are practical to grow and have a good yield. When planning your garden and ordering seeds, include some Bantel or Giant Green soybeans. Both are good varieties though Bantel is the larger bean and also the more productive. Giant Green can be grown where the growing season is short.

Additional information on the use of soybeans may be obtained from the Agricultural Extension Office, No. 206 Post Office Building, New Castle.

PACIFIC HEROES VISIT ELLWOOD

National Tube Employees Hear From Rangers Who Have Been Fighting Japs

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., April 6.—(INS)—Four heroes from the Philippines today met some outstanding soldiers of the home front and reminded them that the war in the Pacific was just started.

One of the heroes, Capt. Robert W. Prince, Seattle, Wash., summed it up thus while addressing employees of the Ellwood City works of the United States Steel Corporation's National Tube company: "The thing that worries all of us is there is V-E day (when the war officially ends in Europe)."

"We're afraid of the letdown that may come when the whistles blow for V-E day. We want it to come just as much as you do but there is a big war ahead in the Pacific."

Captain Prince was one of the American Rangers who worked their way through Japanese lines on northern Luzon and freed 513 prisoners of war from the Jap prison camp at Cabanatuan a few weeks ago.

Three other companions of that perilous expedition accompanied him to Ellwood City. They were Sgt. Harold Hard, Coldwater, Mich.; Pfc. Leland A. Provencer, Lynchfield, Minn., and Pfc. Carlton Liezel, Pigeon, Mich.

They are touring the nation's war plants to tell home front workers of the value of the contribution to the war effort.

Youngstown Man Has Appealed Case

PITTSBURGH, April 6.—(INS)—Rudolfo Alfano, alias Mike Marino, 40, of Youngstown, O., today was released on $2,500 bond pending his appeal to United States Circuit court on his sentence of a year and a day in a federal penitentiary. Judge F. P. Schoonmaker sentenced Alfano following his conviction on a charge of violating the Mann act. He was charged with transporting girls for immoral purposes from Youngstown to Meadville from 1941 to 1943.

In normal times the most valuable class of goods exported by the United States is machinery—electrical, office, industrial, agricultural, and automotive. The largest single type of machinery is automobiles (and other vehicles), parts, and accessories.

One sure way of getting the distinguished Flying Cross, opined Lieutenant Philip Cardin of Margate, N. J., while awaiting reassignment at the AAF Redistribution Station No. 1, is to fly a four-engine sieve all the way back from Vienna, "through" the Alps and to the 15th Air Force base in Southern Italy. "And that sieve I was in looked like a B-17 on the take-off," said the pilot.

Wampum Indians Are Honored By Banquet Event

Sons Of Columbus Of Wampum Spare No Expense With Elaborate Testimony

DENNY SCHILL IS PRINCIPAL SPEAKER

(Special To The News)
WAMPUM, April 6.—Wampum High school's great Indian basketball team, tri-county champions, were tendered a testimony chicken dinner last night at the St. Monica's church, at which 150 sat down to the well filled festive boards. James L. Ferrante, burgess of Wampum and chairman of the banquet committee, acted as toastmaster for the splendid program that followed the serving of the dinner.

The dinner was sponsored by the Sons of Columbus of Wampum, in conjunction with the Wampum borough Council and the Wampum School Board. All three organizations did a swell job of honoring.

Denny Schill, speaker of the Ellwood City, secretary of the Ellwood Chamber of Commerce, was the principal speaker and delivered a fine talk, waxing both humorous and serious as he praised the Wampum High team for their sportsmanship. His speech highlighted the occasion.

The invocation was offered by Rev. F. Francis Lesiak, curate of St. Monica's church. Answering toasts with well chosen speeches were: Irving V. Holmes, supervising principal of the Wampum borough schools; Milton B. Flynt, president of the Wampum Borough Council; and L. Butler, coach of the Wampum High basketball team. A saxophone solo by Joseph Montozzi was enjoyed.

Hennon Offers Thanks
The dinner was the most elaborate ever staged in Wampum and will be talked about for many a day by those who participated. The Sons of Columbus did not spare any expense in giving the Wampum High Indians the finest banquet that have the occasion to attend. L. Butler Hennon, coach of the Wampum "Whiz Kids", thanked the committee most profusely for the elegant dinner and favors that were at each plate. The printed programs were stunning in every detail.

The 1946 season will mark Leo Houck's 24th year as Penn State boxing coach.

Hershey Bears Leading Barons

HERSHEY, Pa., April 6.—(INS)—The Hershey Bears held a two-to-one game edge over the Cleveland Barons today for the American Hockey league crown by virtue of a 3-1 victory in the sports area.

During the last three minutes of play last night, 7200 spectators saw Barons Coach Bun Cook pull Goalie Nick Harvey Teno from the ice in an effort to knot the 2-1 count Hershey rolled its last goal into the unintended nets.

Les Cunningham rifled Cleveland's only tally home 52 seconds after the starting bell but the Barons were unable to pass Goalie Nick Damore during the rest of the contest. Mike Shabaga scored for Hershey in the initial canto to deadlock the count.

After a scoreless middle period, Norm Calladine beat Teno to the punch followed by O'Neill's easy tally.

BYRON NELSON IS ATLANTA LEADER WITH 64 ROUND

Nelson Shoots Sensational Golf To Lead By Five Strokes In Tournament

ATLANTA, Ga., April 6.—(INS)—Deftly a lusty spring gale which buffeted many of his rivals, Byron Nelson of Toledo went into the second round of the Atlanta Iron Lung golf tournament today with a 5-under-par 64.

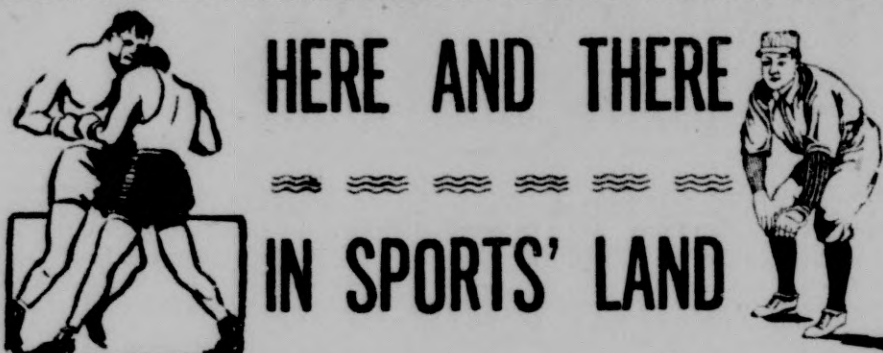

This gave him a first-round 5-stroke advantage over his nearest opponents, Sam Snead of Hot Springs, Va., and "Jug" McSpaden of Sanford, Me., who shot even-par 69's over the capital city course. Nelson accumulated seven birdies on his 18-hole journey and his margin would have been even greater had he not run into a couple bogies. His score was 32 for each 9 holes.

Nelson's sizzling first round performance made him a prohibitive favorite to take down the first prize of $2,400 in war bonds in the tournament which is being played for the benefit of the Red Cross.

Ed Dudley of New York and Orville White of Winston-Salem, N.C., were on the heels of Snead and McSpaden with 70's.

Elmer Reed of Atlanta had a 71 and grouped in the 72 bracket were George Low of Clearwater, Fla.; Ed Furgol of Detroit, an amateur; Joe Kirkwood of Philadelphia, and Bobby Cruikshank of Richmond, Va.

If Nelson wins this tournament, it will be his eighth of the winter season. Snead has won six.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

SCHOOL DISTRICT of New Castle has indicated it will appropriate $5,000, to recreation for 1945. However, the directorate also has indicated that there are other plans proposed which will provide a big boost to recreation here, all of which is very pleasing news. Jack Hurley, Chicago, Jimmy Dunn, Cleveland, Tommy Walsh, formerly of Chicago, Detroit, and more lately of Cleveland will attend the Tuesday night fights at Youngstown when Gene Spencer, Windy City, battles Guy Serean, Idaho, in the main 10-round.

Leo Houck's right name is Hauck. "After one of my first fights a sports writer referred to me as 'Huck'. I never bothered to change it," said Leo just back from a trip to Iceland and Bermuda. He is Penn State's ring coach. Sgt. Rollie Levine who has been in France recently got an eyeful of Paris. . . . Bennie Polakoff is also in France and Dave Shapiro in Germany. . . . Sam Buntman is in signal service in France. . . . Winners of the recent spring trials, Shenango Valley Beagle club, will participate in Saxnburg semi-finals.

Managers of the City Baseball League have been called to meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Y. M. C. A. where plans for 1945's season will be aired. . . . Membership in the Bessemer Rod and Gun club has been restricted to those residing within a five miles radius. . . . Convalescent service men will be permitted to fish the club's lake at Bessemer at the rate of 10 a day, twice a week. . . . Louis McClung is chairman of the speakers committee for the Lawrence County Sportsman's fish dinner April 17 in the Cathedral. . . . Three years ago, April 7, Jack Flansburg, Jack De Carlo, Elmer Minter, Dom Russo and Fred Maciarello enlisted together. Flansburg is a T-S and Di Carlo a S-S in the Pacific. Corp. Russo is at Portsmouth, Va. Sgt. Minter and Corp. Maciarello are at the Philadelphia navy yard. . . . American Legion team has bought some bats at Zelnople. . . . Here's hoping the fishing seasons this year are better than in 1944.

Joe Louis, the fightingest heavyweight champion of all time, will defend his title only once more, a return bout with Billy Conn, and will then retire, according to a recent issue of the army paper, "Stars and Stripes." Tony Cordaro, staff writer for the army paper says that Louis confided to him last summer during a tour of the European theater that he planned to fight twice before retiring, but that this was with the prospect of meeting Conn this summer.

Edwin H. Atherton, Pacific Coast Conference athletic commissioner, says college athletics after the war will flourish as never before. "The new GI 'Bill of Rights', extending educational benefits to men of the armed forces is partly responsible," he says. "The return of servicemen whose education will be subsidized by the government will encourage enrollment of men who had not previously intended to go to college," said Atherton. "That, coupled with the probable return of college athletes who had not completed their courses should bolster athletics at every college."

Volley Ball Title At Stake Saturday

Pro Gridders Face Problems

National Football League Moguls Meet In New York, Face Decisions

NEW YORK, April 6.—(INS)—The National Football League opened its three day annual session at the Commodore today facing a long row of tough decisions.

Elmer Layden, league commissioner and the representatives of the eleven clubs first will take up drafting of college players. Then they will draw up a 1945 schedule. After that the feasibility of merging certain teams to cope with the manpower shortage and transportation problems, will be discussed followed by any rule change proposals.

When this program has been carried out the pro-football bosses still have to decide what to do with the Brooklyn Tigers. The Tigers haven't a coach or any home grounds but it was considered likely that they could play in the Yankee stadium if Tim Mara, who owns the New York Giants would consent. It seemed unlikely that Mara would give his consent as his Giants play in the nearby Polo grounds.

Nearly 60 Report For Track Squad

Coach Bill Klee Greets Fine Looking Squad At Stadium As Cold Weather Leaves

INTER-CLASS MEET IS AHEAD

Track Coach Bill Klee said today that the squad at the stadium is growing with each day. "There are about 60 youngsters training now, with the possibility that before next week we may have as many as 75 out for track."

"The weather has been against us this week, but we hope to get down to serious training next week, with the inter-class meet due on April 16 and 17," Klee said.

Very Few Veterans

There are not too many veterans out for track, about five or six who have had any experience at all, but with a little coaching some of the material may develop, it was indicated.

Bill Walls, the colored star, is available for the broad jump and high jump, and can be counted on to score in both departments. Walls is perhaps one of the best broad jumpers in the W. P. I. A. A. and is looking ahead to a great season.

Need Weight Men

Jim Garberry, a veteran hurdler at low and high hurdles, will be back and is a sure bet to be among the topnotchers in the district. Joe Post, a sprinter and broad jumper, who was injured last year, is back and is looking good. So is Pete Stark in the high jump and "Buzzer" Panella in the sprints and relay. Gillespie, a newcomer, is making the boys sit up and take notice in the broad jump and dashes.

The crying need is for pole vault and weight men for field events such as javelin, discus and shotput. "We expect to get a few good field men out of the fine looking group of football players who have been ordered out for track this year, a very fine conditioner," Klee announced.

Yankees Need Ernie Bonham

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 6.—(INS)—The continued absence of Pitcher Ernie Bonham, with only 11 days remaining before the season opens, had the New York Yankee squad worried today. The big right-hander has been reported working out in California, but so far as is known he has not yet signed up. Meanwhile Manager McCarthy was encouraged by the recent pitching of Walter Duhel and Steve Sosar, rookies last year.

JIMMY DOYLE WINS
Jimmy Doyle defeated Chuck Hunter in 10 rounds Wednesday night in Cleveland.

Phils Play At Camp Lee Today

WILMINGTON, Del., April 6.—(INS)—Charley Schanz, husky right-hander, and outfielder Vince DiMaggio, recently acquired from Pittsburgh, were slated to check in today at the Phillies training camp. Their team-mates, however, will be down Virginia way, dedicating Hank Nowak field at Camp Lee with an exhibition game. Yesterday's tussle with the Fort Dix army squad was washed out by rain.

Augie Galan To Play First Base

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N. Y., April 6.—(INS)—Augie Galan officially became the Dodgers' first sacker for 1945 today. Newly arrived in camp, he said he had no objection to switching from left field to fill Howie Schultz' shoes. Last year he had objected strenuously to such a change, fearing injury to his trick knee. Meanwhile Dixie Walker is overdue in camp.

Senators Defeat Fort Shelton Team

NORFOLK, Va., April 6.—(INS)—The Washington Senators meet the sailors of the Norfolk Training Center today for the last time in their Virginia spring training tour and then return home. The Senators chalked up their fourth victory in a row yesterday when first baseman Joe Kuhel smashed out a triple to score two men in the tenth and give his club a 6-4 win over the Fort Shelton army nine.

Pirate Picture Is Clouding Up

Six Pittsburgh Stars Face Induction Into Armed Forces Very Shortly

MUNCIE, Ind., April 6.—(INS)—The Pirate picture, so pretty at the start of the Muncie training, today was shadowed with the opening major season game only days away and much doubt existing concerning the draft status of many key Buc players.

The confused web of Selective Service consideration now includes Pirates Pete Coscarart, Bob Elliott, Fritz Ostermuller, Hank Camelli, Ray Starr and Al Rubeling. Worried acting-Boss Spud Davis was scheduled to send the Bucs into action today against an Army team at Fort Benjamin Harrison, near Indianapolis.

AROUND
CITY HALL

Traffic causes most police activities here according to the March report of Chief of police Robert D.
Hanna. At least, the statistics bear this assertion out. Of 309 arrests, 234 were due to motor cars. Two hundreds and twenty motorists either forgot to insert a nickel in a meter slot, neglected it intentionally or parked their car at a "slot machine" longer than the allotted time for the nickel. Six other motorists were arrested for other traffic violations.

Only two were arrested for speeding.
Liquor caused the next most trouble for police.
Liquor was next high. Of the 309 arrests, 42 resulted from fingering a bottle or glass too much. Twenty-four persons, characterized as "plain drunks," or those who imbibe too freely, fall over, go to sleep, or just can't make their legs obey, were jailed for safety. Sixteen others were arrested for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. In other words, they either growled too much, wanted to fight, or yelled too loud in the wrong place. Two got a "hide full" then, as customary with some imagined they had pugilistic ability and swapped punches which necessitated police attention—and naturally, they got it, also jail. However, this isn't a bad figure locally—less than one person per thousand for drunkenness over a 31 days period.

Sixteen other persons did not need booze to make them disorderly.
Three other committed assault and battery and three were arrested for burglary. One was taken into custody for lottery, one for larceny, one for receiving stolen goods and one for indecent assault. There were other arrests for less serious charges, or in all, 309.

While the police were looking after the welfare of the humans the dog-catcher also was busy looking after the welfare of canines, excepting that he not only acts as a policeman of the dog world but also acts as an executioner when masters do not care for their dogs. During March he caught 59 and 17 went to their death because their masters either didn't want to keep them until hunting season, had not as much faith in dogdom as dogdom has in humans or because they just didn't like to pay for their keep and keep them on leash.

C. R. Balph, city sealer of weights and inspector of measures, made 376 inspections in the city during March. He was not required to condemn one measure. However, he did have to adjust 36. The plumbing inspector, Harold Dunlap inspected plumbing and he turned in $54 to the city treasury for his inspections.

NEW CASTLE STORE

Will Seek $5,000
Fund In City For Battle On Cancer

Part Of Campaign To Be Conducted Throughout Nation During Present Month

April is "Cancer Control Month" in the United States and along with the other cities and states in the nation, New Castle will conduct a campaign to raise money to fight the scourge, it was announced today. The campaign in New Castle will be for $5,000 and the sponsoring organization for the campaign is the Greater New Castle Association. Dr. Paul H. Wilson has been named chairman and assisting him will be Mrs. W. Keith McAfee.

Dr. Wilson stated today that he expects the campaign to get under way about April 15 and continue throughout the month. Most of the money raised will remain here for education and service in the fight against cancer.

The campaign nationally is the first major cancer fund raising campaign staged by the American Cancer society and is being staged to provide the means for research and education. Here for the meeting of the Lawrence County Medical society Thursday night, Dr. William Bates, president of the Pennsylvania Medical society, said "cancer, which claimed 165,000 American lives, 14,000 of them in Pennsylvania in 1944, is the greater killer of women and the second greatest killer of men. One-third to one-half of those who now die of cancer could be saved if they could be diagnosed during the early stages of the disease."

SPOTLIGHT
Of Today
(International News Service)

GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR
Appointment of Gen. Douglas MacArthur as supreme commander of U. S. army forces in the entire Pacific war theater doubtlessly struck worried Japanese war lords today as of highly ominous import.

For they know the four-star hero of Bataan, who has outfought and outsmarted them repeatedly since the dark days of Corregidor, is an exponent of swift, decisive blows leading to the earliest possible allied march into Tokyo itself.
As far back as 1943, when he had only begun his now historic return to the Philippines, MacArthur had said: "My strategic conception contemplates massive strokes against only main objectives, utilizing air-ground striking power supported and assisted by the fleet." His new appointment, together with that of Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, as commander of all U. S. naval operations in the Pacific, creates a team proven admirably suited to carry the land war to the very heart of Hirohito's domain.

MacArthur's undeniable personal glamour—even at the age of 65—does not detract from the equally undeniable fact that he long has been master of military matters.
The youngest American general officer of World War I, he also became first to become a field marshal—his rank in the pre-war Philippine army. His inevitable triumphant entry into Tokyo will clin-max one of the most notable careers in American military annals.
